Freda Adler

If Freda Adler was afraid to be at the center of controversy, she wouldn't have ascended to the lofty career heights she has attained in her illustrious career. Dr. Adler first gained recognition – and caused wide debate – in 1975 when she predicted that crime rates among women would increase because of the advancement of the women's liberation movement.

Dr. Adler's promulgation of the Liberation Theory of Female Criminality, which ran counter to accepted explanations of female criminality, was followed shortly after by publication of her seminal book, Sisters in Crime: The Rise of the New Female Criminal.

As Dr. Adler's renown grew, so did demand for her expertise, and she came to be considered the country's top female criminologist, and arguably the most well-known female criminologist in the world. Throughout her trailblazing career, she has served as criminal justice advisor to the United Nations, as well as to dozens of federal, state and foreign governments. She has written or collaborated on 17 books, served as editor or coeditor of nine others, and authored more than 100 journal articles.

Dr. Adler taught three generations of students at the Rutgers University School of Criminal Justice, including three current faculty at The University of Scranton. She retired as Professor Emeritus at Rutgers in 2006, but in 2008 she returned to her alma mater at the University of Pennsylvania as the Director of the Master of Science Program in Criminology.

Dr. Adler has received a myriad of awards for her work and service. She is a Fellow and Past President of the American Society of Criminology (ASC), a Fellow of the Max-Planck Institute of Foreign and International Criminal Law, and recipient of the Beccaria Medal in Gold from the German Criminological Society and the Herbert Block Award of the ASC.

We honor Freda Adler, a true pioneer whose courage, persistence and respected skills, knowledge and manner not only helped advance a profession, but was critical to advancing women's status in the field. Therefore we, the President and Trustees of The University of Scranton, in solemn convocation assembled and in accord with our chartered authority, declare

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS, HONORIS CAUSA

That she may enjoy all the rights and privileges of this, our highest honor, we have issued these letters patent under our hand and the corporate seal of the University on this twenty-ninth day of May in the year of Our Lord Two Thousand Eleven.

After studying Theology at Gregorian University, in Rome, Italy, and being ordained to the priesthood at St. Peter's Basilica in 1967, it didn't take long for Msgr. Andrew Martin to find that his true vocational passion was promoting the Catholic faith through education administration.

Msgr. Martin embarked on a distinguished 42-year career, serving in the ministry of Catholic secondary education. Most notably, he was Principal and, later, the first President of Camden Catholic High School, a college preparatory school in Cherry Hill, New Jersey, where he served from 1984 to 2010.

Msgr. Martin guided Camden Catholic during a time of immense transition. His vision of Catholic education was to provide quality teaching and valuable learning opportunities that develop character and lead to lives of distinction. A champion of inclusion, Msgr. Martin made sure that Catholic education was accessible to diverse students and those whose families were affected by unstable economic conditions.

With values rooted in Catholic tradition and an eye toward the future, Msgr. Martin was the catalyst for the creation of the first president/principal model of high school governance in the Diocese of Camden. He established Camden Catholic's first Development Council, which launched an annual fund appeal and established the Development Office.

He was honored by the National Catholic Education Association with its Secondary Schools Department Award. He also shared his insight and expertise as a member of statewide educational boards and with Catholic institutions, including The University of Scranton, where he served two three-year terms on the Board of Trustees

Msgr. Martin retired from Camden Catholic in 2010. In recognition of his distinguished service he was named the school's President Emeritus.

Today, we honor Msgr. Andrew Martin, a champion of Catholic education and opportunity for all, a man who has recognized and dedicated his career to advancing Catholic education. Therefore we, the President and Trustees of The University of Scranton, in solemn convocation assembled and in accord with our chartered authority, declare

MSGR. ANDREW MARTIN DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS, HONORIS CAUSA

That he may enjoy all the rights and privileges of this, our highest honor, we have issued these letters patent under our hand and the corporate seal of the University on this twenty-ninth day of May in the year of Our Lord Two Thousand Eleven

Carl J. Kuehner

For more than four decades, Carl Kuehner has operated at a three-way intersection of vision, opportunity and charity. Mr. Kuehner made his mark in the business world as president of Real Estate Technology Corporation, a diversified real estate development and investment firm that has completed projects from New England to Florida. But he has had an indelible impact on humanity through his generosity.

Under Mr. Kuehner's direction, Real Estate Technology Corporation has developed low- income farm worker housing at various sites in Collier County, Florida, where he has served in a variety of positions with Immokalee Non-Profit Housing, Inc. He has also served as the Scranton-area chairperson for The Order of Malta, a worldwide, lay, religious order of the Catholic Church, that assists the sick and those most in need throughout the world.

For Mr. Kuehner – who is a 1962 graduate of The University of Scranton and whose leadership and service roles include benefactor of the University and a term as Chair of its Board of Trustees – charity is truly a family affair. He and his wife, JoAnne, who received an Honorary Doctorate degree from The University of Scranton in 2001, co-founded the Haitian Education and Revitalization Team, which is now known as Hope for Haiti. Their organization raises funds to improve the future of the children of Haiti and delivered $30 million in aid to the country after the January 2010 earthquake. The Kuehners' granddaughter, Tiffany, is now president of the organization.

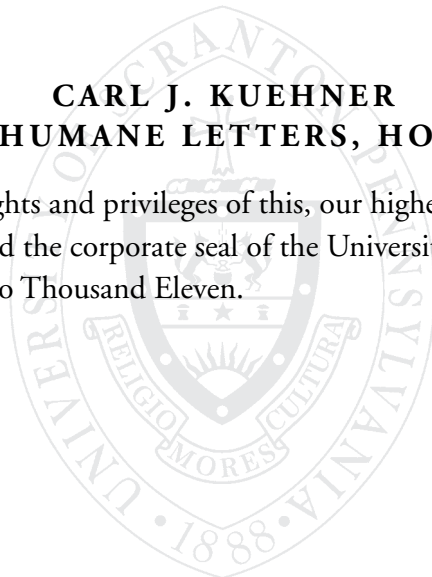

Today, we honor Carl Kuehner whose tremendous success in business is surpassed by his generosity and concern for others. A champion of education, Mr. Kuehner works tirelessly to provide opportunities for children and families in need of assistance. Therefore we, the President and Trustees of The University of Scranton, in solemn convocation assembled and in accord with our chartered authority, declare

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS, HONORIS CAUSA

That he may enjoy all the rights and privileges of this, our highest honor, we have issued these letters patent under our hand and the corporate seal of the University on this twenty-ninth day of May in the year of Our Lord Two Thousand Eleven.

History of the University

The University of Scranton was founded as Saint Thomas College by Bishop William G. O'Hara, the first Bishop of Scranton, who had always hoped to provide an opportunity for higher education in the Lackawanna Valley. In August of 1888, with few resources at hand, he blessed a single block of granite as a cornerstone for his new college, which would admit its first students four years later. (The cornerstone of Old Main is preserved in the wall of St. Thomas Hall located at the corner of Linden Street and Monroe Avenue.)

The college was staffed by diocesan priests and seminarians until 1896 and then, for one year, by the Xaverian Brothers. From 1897 until 1942 the school, which was renamed The University of Scranton in 1938, was administered for the Diocese by the Christian Brothers. In the late summer of 1942, at the invitation of Bishop William Hafey, 18 Jesuits, led by Rev. Coleman Nevils, S.J., the newly appointed president, arrived on campus to administer the University.

The Jesuits restructured and strengthened Scranton's traditional and pre-professional programs with an emphasis on the liberal arts, which are the foundation for every program at a Jesuit university. This emphasis is intended to give students an appreciation for all disciplines as they develop specific subject knowledge.

The University has flourished under the Jesuits, growing from a primarily commuter school with fewer than 1,000 students to a broadly regional, comprehensive university with a total enrollment of more than 6,000 students in undergraduate, graduate, and non-traditional programs.

In these early years of the 21st century, the University is building on its historical and educational heritage guided by the 2005-2010 Strategic Plan, entitled Pride Passion Promise: Shaping Our Jesuit Tradition, and a 20-year Facilities Master Plan adopted in 2000.

The University remains committed to enriching the quality and variety of its academic offerings with recent additions in such fields as Community Health Education, Forensic Chemistry and Biochemistry, Cell and Molecular Biology.

In addition, it continues to invest in its physical facilities and, since 2003, has allocated more than $237 million to campus improvements. New construction since 1998 has included McGurrin Hall, a four-story home for the Panuska College of Professional Studies; Mulberry Plaza and Madison Square townhouses; and Brennan Hall, a 71,000-square-foot building that provides technologically advanced classroom and office space for the Kania School of Management.

The former Admissions Visitors' Center has been renovated into the Chapel of the Sacred Heart, and The Estate has been renovated to serve as an Admissions Visitors' Center and Offices of Admissions.

In 2006, the University dedicated an expansion of its Retreat Center at Chapman Lake, which is located 15 miles north of campus. The 7,050-square-foot addition includes the Chapel, which accommodates approximately 60 people

The Patrick & Margaret DeNaples Center, a new 118,000-square-foot campus center, opened in 2008. The building includes dining and meeting spaces, the bookstore, convenience store and mailing services, Student Affairs and University Ministries, and a unique Student Forum. The John and Jacqueline Dionne Campus Green, dedicated in August 2008, adds 22,000 square feet of green space in the heart of campus. In the fall of 2008, the University dedicated Christopher & Margaret Condron Hall, a 386-bed sophomore residence hall.

The University of Scranton broke ground in May of 2009 on the largest capital project in its 123-year history - an approximately 200,000-square-foot unified science center. The first phase of the building is expected to be completed this fall. Also opening this fall will be the apartment and fitness complex on Mulberry Street, which will provide fitness space, a dining area and apartment-style units for 400 juniors and seniors.

On July 1, 2011, Reverend Kevin P. Quinn, S.J., will become the 25th President of the University. Father Quinn will succeed the Rev. Scott R. Pilarz, S.J., who will become president of Marquette University this summer.

Academic Regalia

The colorful attire worn by the graduates, faculty and officers of the University and by the academic delegates has its roots in medieval traditions that reach back to the earliest universities – to Paris, Bologna, Oxford and Cambridge. The precise origins of the several parts of the academic garb are unknown, but since medieval students enjoyed the status of clerics during their university years, we assume that their attire was inspired by the clerical dress of the time. Early European universities required students and teachers to wear distinctive gowns at all times. The tradition was brought to this country in colonial times, but the requirement for students soon disappeared and professors limited the custom to special occasions.

The Gown. Gowns are generally black, and there are three basic types. The bachelor's gown is plain with a fairly elaborate yoke and long, pointed sleeves. It is worn closed. The master's gown is similar to the bachelor's except that the sleeves are open at the forearms and end with an extra, square-shaped swatch of cloth that originally formed a pocket for reading and writing materials. Master's gowns are worn either open or closed. The doctoral gown, the most elaborate of the three, is adorned with velvet panels on the closed front and around the neck and three velvet bars on each full, bell-shaped sleeve. Although black is the most common color, the velvet panels and sleeve bars may vary according to the faculty that granted the wearer's degree.

The Hood. The colors of the hood reveal the level of a degree, the major field of learning in which the degree was awarded, and the institution by which the degree was conferred. The bachelor's, master's and doctoral hoods are three, three and one-half, and four feet long, respectively. The all-encompassing velvet trim that denotes the field of learning is likewise, two, three, or five inches, respectively. The lining of the hood is worn exposed to show the colors of the school awarding the degree. Most schools have a two-color pattern using chevrons or bars to differentiate schools whose colors may be alike or very similar. The University of Scranton hood, for example, is lined in royal purple with a white chevron.

The Cap. Generally, the mortarboard or Oxford cap is worn with all degrees, although an Elizabethan-style soft cap is used with some doctoral attire. Black tassels are most often used, but many schools have adopted the practice of using tassels matching the hood color. Doctors and presidents of institutions frequently wear a gold tassel.

The University Mace

The University Mace is traditionally carried at the head of academic processions as a symbol of educational authority and institutional identity. The mace consists of a 56-inch polished aluminum staff topped with an engraving of the great seal of the University with sunburst accents formed by cut-metal rays. The symbol of the Society of Jesus appears on the rear of the mace. The seal is echoed on the verges, which consist of shorter hardwood rods topped with an engraving of the great seal of the University in brass.

The Presidential Medallion

In ancient and medieval Europe medallions of office were worn as breastplates by figures of authority or distinction. The University of Scranton Presidential Medallion is such a symbol, and it continues the tradition of incorporating educational, religious and historic icons that describe the institution's distinctive character.

The center of the medallion is an enameled rendering of the great seal of the University surrounded by rays. The principal colors of the seal are the traditional colors of the University, white and royal purple. On the purple field is a horizontal silver bar containing, in purple, a star derived from the Seal of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, a symbol taken from the seal of Saint Thomas College, the predecessor of the University, and two stacks of wheat from the obverse of the coat of arms of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The upper half of the seal contains, in gold, two wolves grasping a cauldron suspended from a chain. They are taken from the coat of arms of the family of Saint Ignatius Loyola, and they identify the University as a Jesuit institution. Below the silver bar is a golden rising sun, symbolic of Saint Thomas Aquinas, the shining light of the Church and the patron of the University.

The border of the seal reproduces the border of the shield of the Diocese of Scranton and the silver hemispheres are taken from William Penn's coat of arms. The crest is a golden cross of the style known as Patonce. It symbolizes Christ, the goal and the norm of the University's educational efforts, and it complements the motto the University has had since it was entrusted to the care of the Christian Brothers in 1899: Religio, Mores, Cultura.

The great seal is surrounded by the name of the institution and its founding date, 1888, and is further embellished by a sunburst of rays also derived from the iconic symbol of Saint Thomas Aquinas.

The Presidential Medallion is worn on a silver chain with links inspired by carved wooden moldings in The Estate, the ancestral home of the Scranton family. It is engraved with the names of the previous presidents and the founder of the University. The chain is connected by a link adorned with the symbol of the Society of Jesus.

The medallion was designed and crafted for the University by Mr. William Reidsema of Clarks Summit, Pennsylvania.

The Heraldic Banners

The University commissioned the ten heraldic banners carried in the academic procession to celebrate the 450th anniversary of the founding of the first Jesuit college in Messina, Sicily (1548), and the 110th anniversary of the founding of Saint Thomas College (1888), the precursor of The University of Scranton. The heraldic devices on the banners bear witness to the influences that have endowed the University with its distinctive identity.

- ❖ The banner adorned with the seal of the Society of Jesus (IHS, surmounted with a cross above three nails and surrounded with a halo of rays) announces that The University of Scranton is a Jesuit university.
- ❖ The banner adorned with the seal of the family of Saint Ignatius Loyola (a golden pot suspended between two wolves) bears witness to the fact that the University's educational philosophy is derived from the thought of Saint Ignatius (1491-1556), the founder of the Society of Jesus.
- ❖ The banner adorned with the seal of the Diocese of Scranton (a star rising between two crossed keys) recalls and celebrates the fact that the University was founded by the Most Reverend William O'Hara, D.D., the first Bishop of Scranton.
- ❖ The banner adorned with the seal of the Brothers of the Christian Schools (the five-pointed star) honors the Christian Brothers' half century of devoted service to the students of Saint Thomas College and The University of Scranton.
- ❖ The banner adorned with a device drawn from the seal of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (the stack of wheat) both identifies the University's location and proclaims its special mission to the citizens of Pennsylvania.
- ❖ The banner adorned with the iconic symbol of Saint Thomas Aquinas (the radiant sunburst) recalls both the name of the University's precursor college (Saint Thomas College) and announces that Saint Thomas remains the heavenly patron of the University.

- ❖ The banner adorned with the crown refers to the nickname of the University's athletic teams (The Royals) and announces that, in the tradition of the Spiritual Exercises of Saint Ignatius Loyola, all of the sons and daughters of the University are called to follow Christ the King.
- ❖ The banner adorned with the picture of the sailing ship celebrates the devoted service that the members of the Maryland Province of the Society of Jesus (whose ancestors in the faith arrived in America in 1634 aboard the Ark and the Dove) have rendered to the University and its students since 1942.
- ❖ The banner adorned with the Cross of Patonce suspended above an unfurled banner bears witness to the fact that the University is a Christian institution of higher learning. The legend on the banner bears the motto of the University: "Religio, Mores, Cultura."
- ❖ The banner adorned with the Chi Rho superimposed upon an open book testifies to the University's belief that, as its Mission Statement says, "Jesus Christ is the primary source for the values and attitudes that imbue the culture of its campus."

The Class Banner

- ❖ The banner indicating the graduating class's year, first presented when the class arrives on campus for Fall Welcome, is a mainstay at special functions. It signifies unity, identity and spirit of the class as a whole. The banner welcomes students back as alumni, particularly during milestone reunions.

The National Anthem

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say, can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night, that our flag was still there.
Oh, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave?
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Alma Mater

The hours too quickly slip away
And mingle into years
But memories of our Scranton days will last
Whatever next appears.
The legacy from those before
Is briefly ours to hold,
We leave the best behind for others
As the coming years unfold.

With faith in lives that touch us here
And paths that ours have crossed
We know that reaching for the rising sun
Is surely worth the cost.
May God be ever at our side,
May goodness fill our days.
We hail as loving sons and daughters
Alma mater ours always.
